What is it like to work at Oxford PharmaGenesis

We seek to employ the very best people who shall work energetically together. All our people shall be trained, encouraged, rewarded and enabled to:

- aim for excellence
- make a difference to patient health
- enjoy their work
- be creative
- develop professionally
- support others
- help to shape the business
- generate outstanding company and personal success.

Our commitment and responsibilities to each other

Our fundamental principle is that each person in the company shall have as much control as possible over what he or she does and how it is done but we remain accountable to each other for:

- prioritizing overall business and team objectives
- working efficiently together within and among teams to optimize our success
- treating each other with loyalty, honesty, respect and consideration at all times
- practising good communication, flexibility, support and collaboration.
